Increase Attacks To Bring Sicily To Capitulation

Allied Air Assaults Upon Important Bases In Sicily Reach New Fury

ANOTHER SMALL ISLAND OCCUPIED

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, June 16.—Fanning out in expanding raids against Axis air power in the Mediterranean, American bombers plastered landing fields from one end of Sicily to the other in the last few hours, official spokesmen announced today.

Just as in the case of the raids which blanketed Pantelleria before it surrendered to the Allies, the attacking formations were led by heavy flying fortresses, supported by medium Mitchells and Marauders.

The attacks on the airbases, one at Bocca di Falco and the other at Castelvetrano, were carried out with an escort of speedy Lightning fighters.

New Attacks Disclosed
The aerial bombardments were disclosed in a communique from headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower which announced:

PA NEW OBSERVES

Mrs. Michael Hudock of 228 Fern street, reported to Pa Newc that she has already canned 14 plants of peas from her victory garden on Wednesday.

While the rest of the sky was clear and the moon was shining last evening, after dark there was an unusual display of lightning playing in a large black cloud some miles away in the north and north-west sky.

While in previous years the auto touring season through this section was beginning to reach its height this time of the year, the number of cars from other states seen this year is small. A considerable number from Ohio are to be noted, but one from a distant state is so rare as to attract attention. A car parked on the public square that carried an Arizona license plate, was a curiosity, this week.

Heavy rains of last night gave the streets a good washing off. Rains have been so prevalent this summer that most of the paved streets have been kept nicely washed off, and there has been little dust and dirt accumulated on them.

Visit of the state secretary of highways to the city last night and today, revealed information that plans for extensive road-building work are being made by the state for the post-war period. Road building work of most every kind has been stopped because of the war conditions.

A special program of interest to the members is being prepared for this occasion, and a surprise is promised.

Axis Is Convinced Allied Invasion Of Europe Near

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 16.—The Axis today is convinced that an Allied invasion of Europe will be launched before the week is out.

It appeared from the flood of Axis reports that Berlin and Rome expect a heavy blow to be struck somewhere in the Mediterranean. Axis propagandists indicated that Allied assaults might occur at any of a dozen points from the Balkans to southern France.

Reports reaching London from enemy quarters claimed that a great Allied invasion fleet, far

New Action Is Near In Pacific

Signs Point To Early End Of Prolonged Lull In Major Operations

HUGE AMERICAN FLEET ASSEMBLED

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The prolonged lull in major operations in the Pacific today left a trail of signs pointing toward impending action which might be precipitated at any time by America's growing fleet and air forces.

Conservative navy men did not discount the possibility that Japs might move against United Nations bases, but these sources added that such an attempt would be more defensive than offensive on the part of the enemy.

On the other hand, statements by high-ranking army and navy officials in Washington and in the field and other developments left no doubt in informed quarters that important new offensive blows would be struck by the United States.

Hint Of Action
Secretary of the Navy Knox gave a hint of things to come and emphasized the difficulties of such operations when he said that "it takes a long time to get ready for any kind of sizeable movement."

Earlier Knox stated that the largest American fleet ever assembled was in readiness in the South Pacific for possible Japanese moves and was preparing for "fresh activities."

With the exception of the month-long campaign during which American army troops swept the Japanese (Continued On Page Two)

Expansion Of Civilian War Agencies Hit

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Calling a halt on further expansion of civilian war agencies, the House appropriations committee today approved a $2,921,000,000 supply bill to finance their operations for the fiscal year starting July 1, but inflicted heavy cuts on the OWI and OPA in the process.

With 17 agencies involved, the committee's bill represented a reduction of $139,492,000 below amounts requested, with only the war shipping administration receiving a sizeable increase over its appropriation of last year.

The office of war information and the office of price administration—both targets of frequent congressional criticism—were hit hardest.

The OPA got $12,335,000 less than it sought and was directed to "roll back" its War Relocation Authority to its May 31 personnel level.

The committee, however, granted an increase over last year for local boards to enable them to hire an additional 5,189 clerks.

The OWI got $12,869,000 less than it asked, and $1,375,000 less than it received a year ago. A $10,000,000 request to finance joint propaganda campaigns with future military invasion overseas, was slashed in half, and a proviso written in that even the half left could not be expended without specific authorization from the bureau of the budget.

The committee also ordered a "drastic curtailment and reorganization" of the office of civilian defense, trimming the OGD's request $1,700,000 below budget estimates and $3,447,000 below the amount voted last year.

One report by the German radio asserted that a convoy of 25 Allied ships, guarded by the British battleship King George V, the aircraft carrier Formidable and a small number of American war vessels had arrived in the bay of Gibraltar. The Nazis claimed that 55 other cargo vessels and oil tankers were already in port when the new convoy arrived.

Rabaul Again Heavily Blasted

Jap Base In New Britain Target For Allied Air Attack

(International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 16.—Another heavy aerial blow against the major Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain, in which 23 tons of bombs caused huge explosions and fires at the Lakunai and Rappo airbases, was disclosed today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

The communique also reported increased enemy air activity in the New Guinea area. A formation of 27 Jap bombers, escorted by 30 fighter planes, attacked native villages in the Bena Bena district near Madang and nine enemy aircraft raided the Dobura area after nightfall, causing slight damage and no casualties.

At Rabaul, Allied heavy bombers concentrated their attack on ground-based planes. In addition to setting off many explosions and seven large fires visible 60 miles, Gen. MacArthur's airmen kindled numerous smaller blazes in revetment areas, indicating many enemy planes were destroyed.

Although Japanese fighter planes attempted to intercept the Allied raiders and enemy anti-aircraft and searchlight defenses were active, all the bombers returned safely.

In other raids, medium bombers ignited fires visible 20 miles at the enemy airbase at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, and long-range fighters strafed the enemy-held villages of Voana and Kapiti in Markham Valley, New Guinea.

(International News Service)

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., June 16.—Nineteen officers and men of the Alamogordo army air base were killed, early yesterday in the crash of two army bombers between Ruidoso and Capitan, N. M., it was announced today by the field's public relations office.

One flier parachuted safely to earth.

The two planes were on a routine flight, it was said. A board of army officers from the Alamogordo base has been appointed to investigate the crash.

The dead included: Second Lt. Ray E. Ward, Youngstown, O.; Second Lt. John V. Andrews, Glendenin, W. Va.; Sgt. Joseph H. Huddy, Scranton, Pa. and Sgt. Allen H. Chamovitz, Aliquippa, Pa.

Brazil May Send Troops To Fight

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Disclosure that Brazil may soon send troops to aid the Allied nations in European and African zones, was made today by Nelson A. Rockefeller, co-ordinator of inter-American affairs.

Allied Planes In Long Flight Over Denmark

Points In North Germany Also Reported As Attacked In Night

MANY INTRUDER SORTIES ARE MADE

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 16.—Allied bombers last night attacked points in north Germany, according to a dispatch by the official German news agency, D.N.B., broadcast by the Berlin radio.

Bombs were dropped in isolated places and caused "insignificant damage," the Germans said.

The D.N.B. dispatch asserted that German bombers during the night attacked objectives in southeast England.

The Germans said that Berlin had an alert of more than half an hour from 1:45 a. m. until 2:19 a. m. but "no particular incidents" were reported.

Over Denmark
Royal Air Force fighter planes during the night destroyed an Axis airplane over Denmark, the air ministry disclosed today as reports from the southeast English coast indicated that British craft engaged in widespread intruder sorties.

The flight to Denmark, a round-trip journey of 800 miles, was believed to be the greatest penetration of Axis-held territory yet made by intruder craft.

The fact that the huge Deutschlandsender radio left the air and the German overseas wireless transmission was interrupted in the early hours of the morning supported the belief that R.A.F. activity over the continent probably was extensive. There were no official reports, however, that British heavy bombers again were in operation.

Late yesterday, the air ministry said, fighter-bombers struck at Axis shipping off the Cherbourg Peninsula and blasted railway lines near Dieppe on the French coast. Two of the British planes were lost in these operations.

Aerial Blows Are Exchanged In Solomons

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—An exchange of aerial blows by American and Japanese bombers against each other's bases in the Solomons was reported today by the navy.

In twilight attacks on June 13 and 14, American four-motored bombers blasted Japanese installations at Kahili and Shortland Islands in the northern Solomons with unobserved results.

On the evening of June 14, U. S. Army Mitchell bombers escorted by fighters also pounded the enemy runway and anti-aircraft positions at Vila in the central Solomons.

In a dawn attack on June 15, the Japanese retaliated with a new assault on Guadalcanal Island but the navy said that "no personnel or material damage has been reported."

There was no other report of action in the Pacific by the navy but the prolonged lull in major operations was interpreted in some quarters as an indication of impending large scale action, probably by the U. S. sea and air forces.

Hillsville Boy Wounded In Africa

Pvt. Nick Marzane Suffers Wound In Closing Phase Of North African Campaign

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Marzane, of Hillsville, stating that their son, Pvt. Nick Marzane, had been slightly wounded in the action in North Africa, on May 6, and that he is now convalescing nicely.

His parents received a telegram from the War Department, announcing the fact, and shortly afterwards received word from Pvt. Marzane in which he told them not to worry that his wound was not of a serious nature.

Pvt. Marzane was a member of the First Division, which saw such gallant action against the Axis, and was in the infantry forces. He was inducted into the service 16 months ago.

Secretary Schroyer Confers With Councilmen On Condition Of State Routes

John U. Schroyer, secretary of highways for Pennsylvania, conferred with city council this morning at city hall, on problems affecting the condition of state highways running through the city.

He was accompanied by Republican County Chairman Roger W. Rowland, and superintendent of highways, E. O. Reed.

Mr. Schroyer stated that he would have state engineers come here next week to make a survey of conditions, and they will confer with the mayor and city council on these local problems.

Mr. Schroyer is interested deeply in the proposed improvement of Route 422, within the state of Pennsylvania, and particularly between New Castle and Butler. This is one of the most widely used highways in Pennsylvania, the bulk of the motor traffic from the west to the east using this route.

WARING BRANDS LEWIS TRAITOR

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., June 16.—Branding John L. Lewis as the "worst traitor since Benedict Arnold," American Legion Commander Roane Waring today called upon Americans to labor to pledge that there would be no more strikes for the duration.

Recently returned from a trip to the African battle-zone, Waring charged that Lewis had imperiled the safety of the entire nation by precipitating the current coal crisis.

"He should have been slapped into Leavenworth penitentiary," Waring said. "I would have done it, and asked afterward if I could do it. Only a stumble-bum like Ickes would have asked him for a couple weeks' truce."

CHUNGKING, June 16.—A new theory regarding the mysterious death of the late Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto—assassination—was put forward by an official Chinese military spokesman today.

State Highway Secretary Guest

John U. Schroyer Here For First Official Visit Since Assuming Post

CAPT. ROWLAND IS DINNER HOST

John U. Schroyer, of Shamokin, secretary of highways for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, came to New Castle Tuesday night for his first official visit since assuming office. After meeting him at dinner, and hearing him speak, the men who met him came away with the idea that the highway department is headed by a down to earth business man, who has no kinsmanship with Santa Claus but who believes in and practices fair dealing.

At 7 o'clock a group consisting of city, county and state officials, reported officers of the Greater New Castle Association, New Castle Motor Club, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association and a few private citizens met in The Castleton Hotel for dinner. The dinner was given by Captain Roger W. Rowland, county chairman of the Republican county committee and a personal friend of Mr. Schroyer.

The dinner was in no way a formal affair and was free from any suggestion of official pomp. The official meeting of Mr. Schroyer with the mayor and city council came today in city hall where he conferred with the council upon local problems and an account of which can be found in other columns.

Secretary Speaks
Secretary Schroyer was introduced by Captain Rowland and for a little while spoke informally to the men at the dinner. Said he "I am not a politician but I am familiar with the science of government."

In private life, I am a business man in Shamokin, engaged in the manufacture of women's dresses for the past 30 years. The job of being secretary of highways is a business job and as long as I am in that capacity I shall treat it with business principles.

The Soviet high command said that Soviet pilots struck at railway stations, trains and supply stores behind the German lines at Balakleya.

Arrival Of King Is Kept Secret

Head Of British Empire In North Africa Since Last Saturday

MAKES TOUR OF VICTORY SCENES

(Editor's Note: First details of the visit to North Africa by King George VI are related in the following dispatch by an American correspondent representing the news services of the United States.)

By RELMAN MORIN
American Correspondent Representing The Combined U. S. Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 16.—King George VI of England has been in North Africa since last Saturday, visiting scenes of the Allies' greatest victory and talking with the soldiers and sailors who won it.

The news of the visit was kept an official secret until today. His inspection tour, crowded into a few days, took him into a number of different British and American military establishments, aboard warships, through convalescent camps—even to a stretch of beach where more than 3,000 troops were having a Sunday swim.

That was an unforgettable moment. The men caught sight of the king standing on the veranda of a small villa for officers and instantly came racing down the beach from all directions resembling a horde of semi-nude natives on the warpath.

Non-Business Men Hold Over Half Of OPA Key Positions

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Data prepared by the OPA and released by the House appropriations committee today revealed that out of 88 key posts in the OPA, 48 are held by men whose official biographies disclose no practical experience in business.

Bulk of the 48 are college professors, with the balance of their career government employees.

Of the 88, the data shows that 54 hold executive jobs, heading branches or divisions of the agency. Of these 54, the professors and career government employees outnumber the men with experience in the business world by a margin of 33 to 21.

Most of the 88 are young, 56 of them being between the ages of 29 and 39. Their salaries average about $7,000 a year.

British Monarch Is Making Visit To Allied Forces

Buckingham Palace Reveals News Of Unprecedented Trip Of King

GEN. EISENHOWER RECEIVES HONOR

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 16.—Buckingham Palace announced today that King George VI now is in North Africa on an unprecedented visit to Allied troops.

Announcement of the journey by the king to the critical Mediterranean area at a time when Allied forces are reported poised for a possible invasion of Sicily and Sardinia or the Italian mainland thrilled the British populace.

A special bulletin was broadcast over the facilities of the British Broadcasting Company immediately upon release of the news from the king's official residence.

Second War Trip
King George appointed Queen Elizabeth, the Duke of Gloucester, the Princess Royal, Prince Arthur Connaught and Lady Southesk to act for him during his absence. The four sons of Queen Elizabeth are the four next in succession to the throne, excluding minors.

The trip to North Africa marked the second time that the British monarch had left England since the outbreak of the war in September 1939.

He visited armies arrayed along the Maginot line in France in 1940, making the journey across the English channel aboard a destroyer.

King George's last overseas visit took place when he journeyed with Queen Elizabeth to Canada and the United States late in 1938.

The king took advantage of the opportunity while in North Africa, it was revealed, to invest American Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander-in-chief, with the insignia of the Knight's grand cross of the military order of the bath.

In a recent announcement of honors a like award was bestowed (Continued On Page Two)

This is the month for the brides and roses, this is the month of June, this is the month when the singing poets, sing of the silvery moon. And they tangle a lyre and strum a lute, and lyrics pour out with a rush, as they sing of the hills and the limpid pools, where the elders are heavy and lush. But I would sing of the picnic days when lunches are served outdoors and the spiders romp in the pickled eggs and the ants come at you in scores, when the flies get chummy with apple pie, and all of it listed as fun, there isn't much romance in that I know, but the weather is ninety-one.

Controversy On 'Food Czar' Plan

Major Rift Between President And Congress Seems Nearing

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 16—A major rift between congress and President Roosevelt flared into the open today, barely two weeks after creation of the war mobilization board which was given the task of resolving intra-governmental differences before they break into print and confuse the public.

Sharp words were exchanged on both sides of the controversy of whether or not an all-powerful "food czar" should be named with final authority over production, prices, rationing and manpower on the farm and on the merits of the food subsidy program for stabilizing the cost of living.

With Capitol Hill solidly for the "food czar" appointment and just as solidly opposed to the subsidy program, 2 days of scurrying conferences between farm bloc leaders and the White House were climaxed by the exclamation of Rep. Fulmer, chairman of the house agriculture committee.

"If they (the administration) want to continue this darn experimenting, then we (Congress) will just have to take some action," he angrily asserted upon leaving a lengthy conference with the President.

Fulmer led democratic and republican members of his committee into the White House to ask appointment of the food czar. He told reporters afterwards that he had placed a proposed bill before the President and asked him to accomplish the bill's objectives by executive order.

Asked for President Roosevelt's reaction to the proposal, Fulmer gloomily declared, "It looks to me like it is going to be up to congress to act."

Stefani News Agency said that American planes were over the southern part of the Jutland Peninsula and neighboring islands but stated that no bombs were dropped. The Italian report claimed three planes were shot down. There was no official confirmation of such a mission.

The air correspondent of the Daily Herald estimated that during last week-end between 5,000 and 6,000 tons of Allied bombs were dropped on Germany and northwest Europe. One airmail commander said that four-motored Lancasters were loaded with bombs every night between June 1 and June 11 but each time the explosives were removed when scheduled attacks were called off.

Meanwhile the Daily Telegraph estimated that American flying fortresses destroyed at least 50 Nazi interceptor planes out of the 200 which attacked the forts when they raided Kiel and Bremen Sunday.

"There is every reason to believe the claim should be much higher," said the newspaper, since the crews of the 26 bombers which were lost were unable to report.

anyone in Italy knowing of the presence of enemy agents and no informing proper authorities is liable to long imprisonment.

This appeared to be the latest move by the Fascists to tighten their anti-invasion defenses and guard against operations which might assist an Allied landing.

The populace of occupied France meanwhile was told by the Nazi-operated Paris radio that an attack by British and American forces can be expected since "the Allies have not beaten the big drum as a bluff."

The announcer said that "the Allies are by no means 'joking' and that the time is at hand for 'serious decision.'"

Russia added to the uneasiness of the Axis by predicting a joint blow against the Reich from the east and west.

An announcer speaking over the Leningrad radio said:

"A mighty air force and large land forces of the Allies...is preparing to overcome the German anti-invasion defenses and put into effect the invasion of the European continent."

"There can be no doubt that the blow against the Hitlerites from the west will coincide with a mighty crushing blow by the Red army from the east and they will join in a mighty blow to strike the death knell for the Fascists."

water. There were no stopwatches held but undoubtedly every swimming record from 100 yards up to a half mile was broken.

In a matter of seconds the beach beneath the verandah was a solid mass of tanned, dripping men.

Suddenly the excited hum of conversation was hushed. The men began singing as though at a signal from an invisible leader. They sang "God Save Our King" and you could see they meant it.

The moment that the anthem ended the king turned and came down the steps on to the beach itself. That was not part of the schedule and it caught his aides so by surprise that he almost got away from them.

The king walked into the center of the crowd and stood talking with those nearest him. They sang another song then, "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow."

There were a large number of Frenchmen in the crowd. They cried "Vive Le Roi."

Two old Frenchmen looked at each other and said:

"It has been a long time since I've said those words."

Eisenhower with the insignia of the Knight's grand cross of the order of the bath."

Buckingham Palace said that the king was accompanied by both the secretary of state for war, Sir James Grigg, and the secretary of state for air, Sir Archibald Sinclair.

King George visited the British First Army, commanded by Lieut. Gen. Kenneth Anderson, and the Desert Eighth Army, led by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, as well as units of the royal navy and the Royal Air Force in North Africa.

A special communique was issued from headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of Allied forces in North Africa, on the presence of the king.

"The king is visiting his forces in North Africa," the communique said.

"His majesty has welcomed this opportunity of seeing the United States and Allied forces with whom his own forces are so closely associated, and of investing Gen. Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of Allied forces, with the insignia of the Knight's grand cross of the order of the bath."

On Monday, the king reviewed troops of the Fifth American Army in a daylong tour, traveling along roads lined with United States troops and equipment. He stopped at the American cemetery to pay homage to those killed in the landing at Oran, visited a training center and witnessed commando tactics.

Spokesmen said the monarch paid high tribute to the American forces. The king was reported to have left England late Friday night in the same four-motored plane in which Prime Minister Winston Churchill made his journey some weeks ago. He flew directly to a North African airfield, where he landed at 8 a. m. (3 p. m. EWT) Saturday.

In discussing his trip, he termed it "a lovely flight."

ese invaders from the Island of Attu in the Aleutians there has been no important action between U. S. and enemy land, sea and air forces.

For more than a year now the Japs have shown no inclination to move in forces against American or United Nations outposts, and the enemy has confined his operations to sporadic air assaults in which he suffered heavy losses.

During the past five months the Japs have lost ground, namely Guadalcanal and the Russell Islands in the Solomons and Attu in the Western Aleutians.

Major units of Japan's Pacific fleet have remained hidden since last January, when a powerful unit was sighted north of Guadalcanal but disappeared in the direction of the enemy base at Truk without firing a shot.

STATE HIGHWAY SECRETARY GUEST

visitation of my friend Captain Rowland and I spent some time this afternoon looking over highways in this county. Your highway No. 422 should be improved, should be widened from Portersville east through New Castle and it is in the post-war program of highway development. Just now we are handicapped in building new highways because of war production board rules. Materials needed for highway building are also needed in the war effort and the war comes first. After the war we expect to engage in a comprehensive program of highway improvement and Lawrence County is going to get its fair share of the improvements. There is now in blueprint form, highway improvements totalling about $300,000. We have in mind a program that will cost well over $100,000,000. All of this must wait for the completion of the war when materials will be released for peace-time purposes."

Several brief responses to Secretary Schroyer's address were made. For Ellwood City, Burgess Clyde B. Houk spoke. For the county commissioners, William R. Walton spoke and for the City of New Castle, Mayor Charles B. Mayne spoke.

Among the guests present were a number of Spanish-American War veterans who served with Secretary Schroyer. As a lad of 17 he enlisted as a private in the Spanish-American War and among his buddies was another young private, Edward Martin of Washington, Pa., now the governor of the Commonwealth.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

NURSING BEST FOR BABY

The mother who can, is wise to give her infant natural food unless her doctor advises otherwise. He rarely will. He knows that breast-fed babies, as a rule, have a better chance to live and keep well than do babies bottle-fed.

Even with the greatest care by the mother at sterilizing bottles and foods, the infant's feeding can hardly be as safe from the bottle as from the breast. This, obviously, is particularly true during wartime when doctors are so scarce and in congested and rural areas.

If you are willing to stay home, you will find the care of your infant much easier and simpler if you give it Nature's food. You might, of course, plan early for an emergency or opportunity to be away for several hours at a stretch occasionally, by introducing the bottle early or one feeding a day, preferably not at the same feeding period every day. Be sure to sterilize the bottle very well then and select the milk or formula as your doctor advises.

While no wise mother will travel except by car, with the infant unless absolutely necessary, how much easier for her and safer for the infant, should she travel with it as a nursing baby.

Builds Feeling of Security

While you nurse your baby you naturally cuddle him. It cultivates your mutual endearments and builds in the infant a good foundation for feelings of security. In case your baby is bottle-fed, hold him when he takes the bottle by day. Nurses are instructed to do so in some modern hospitals.

At regular intervals, take your baby to the doctor. You will be able to cooperate best with your doctor if you will read such bulletins on infant care as those to be had free from the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., and if you will also attend some of the wartime courses put on by your local Red Cross.

Courses For Expectant Mothers

In Cleveland, Ohio, babies and their mothers are very fortunate. There every expectant mother may attend a course of free instruction on her own care and that of the baby during his early months and years. Thousands of expectant mothers (Continued On Page Six)

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Well, General Hershey says that almost 23 per cent of the army's recruits are for mental and nervous reasons and that doesn't surprise us any.

We started getting jumpy in 1929 and have been walking on our heels since.

We have been through depression, repression, digression and aggression.

The boy who is 18 and ready for the army today was four years old in 1929 when the stock market crashed and six years when banks began to snap shut like mousetraps in a hay and grain store.

He has grown up in an atmosphere of NRA's, doles, Townsend plans, currency devaluation, labor wars, leaf raking projects, all steps short of war, Pearl Harbor and war itself.

He has had some hysteria planned for him and some he has stumbled into himself.

He has seen Thanksgiving celebrated on two dates in one year and his clock shifted an hour winter and summer.

He has gotten up in the morning with bulletins on national emergencies and gone to bed at night with flashes on international emergencies.

Thought for the day. Anybody who isn't a mental case today just ain't got any mentality.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

BOSTON—Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, "Hitler hasn't a chance to last to the end of the war. It is a 100 to 1 shot the German people will get rid of him and try to make a deal with the United Nations."

WASHINGTON—Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson: "If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation, it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion or other matters of opinion or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein."

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky: "We must immediately share our full responsibility in bringing about a peace that will contain germs of permanent justice among nations and then assume our share of responsibility in making breach of that peace impossible."

WASHINGTON—War manpower Director Paul McNutt: "Virtually all males of working age are employed or will be in the armed forces; we must rely on women."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:30. Sun rises tomorrow 5:30.

After this war is over many more women will hold public offices. If women can be soldiers they can be office holders.

The government reports that the crop outlook for this year is the poorest in three years. And this just when we need things the most.

"I wish I could," sighed an elderly lady on Mercer street as she gazed at a sign on a grocery store reading: "Give your fat to Uncle Sam."

Automobile makers are figuring on big business after the war. They will get it.

OVERSENSITIVE
"I'm afraid you don't like work."
"Yes, I do," answered Plodding Pete. "I have so much respect for work that when I see a piece of it to be 'tended to I allus feel like turnin' it over to somebody else that wouldn't be as likely to spoil it as I would."

Christy—After all, darling, we have only one life to live.
Frank—With prices going up the way they are, it's a lucky thing that one is our limit.

The price of divorce seems too high if it includes the humiliation of having a wife's unfaithfulness exposed to the world.

Throwing an old shoe after the bride and bridegroom may be all right as far as it goes. But why not throw both?

IN THE SEWER
Norah: "Get up and set the table." Pat: "Don't be askin' the man of the house to be doin' such things, bring on the grub and stop yer lip!"
Norah: "That's a fine way to talk to me who stands over a hot stove all day while you're down in that nice cool sewer."

Don't you fall for—
In dupe or fair weather—
That we all hang separate
If we don't hang together.

WHY NOT GAYRIDGE
"Pop, what's a grudge?"
"It's what yiz keep an automobile in!"

Alford—I certainly have been pinched for money lately.
Tubby—What a strange way of getting it. My wife kisses me when she wants money.

Imagination makes death awful. Eskimo kids hang one another till unconscious just for the fun of passing out—the little idiots.

WASHINGTON—Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson: "If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation, it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion or other matters of opinion or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein."

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky: "We must immediately share our full responsibility in bringing about a peace that will contain germs of permanent justice among nations and then assume our share of responsibility in making breach of that peace impossible."

WASHINGTON—War manpower Director Paul McNutt: "Virtually all males of working age are employed or will be in the armed forces; we must rely on women."

Some people get thrown out of the window now if the window is not near the door.

War Bonds are the best investment in the world today. You are helping to bring our boys back when you buy them, which is most important.

THE OTHER SIDE

Some remarks of a local gentleman the other day interested us greatly.

"My wife is probably the most extravagant woman in town," he said. "She buys clothes she doesn't really need and she doesn't watch the grocery bills at all with the result that they're generally high. She'll wear a hat once and then throw it away, although it is in perfectly good shape. She never takes advantage of the 1-cent sales because she says it is too much trouble."

And then he leaned back in his chair and said he guessed he'd better cash in his remaining chips as he was loser $55 already.

The tombstone of a genial host bears his name and the simple epitaph: "This is on me."

Every now and then we hear of some one being kicked and killed by a horse. Many years ago we were kicked on the nose by a horse, and it nearly fixed us, but we still have the marks.

DISAPPOINTMENT
"Do you believe in dreams, Riley?"
"Oh, no," said Riley.
"Well, phew! at a sign of a married man dreams he's a bachelor!"

"It's a sign he's going to meet with a great disappointment when he wakes up."

A. C. had ordered a suit of clothes from his tailor. As A. C. was being measured, the tailor asked: "How would you like the pockets, sir?"
"Well, just a wee bit difficult to get in," replied A. C., our Scot friend.

First lady: "Rumor has it that you and your husband aren't getting on well together."
Second Ditto: "Ridiculous! We had a word or two and I shot him, but that's as far as it went."

Prosecutor: "Plaintiff says as he fired he saw you running from his hen house."
Defendant: "He am shorely mistaken, faz as I was runnin' he couldn't tell I wuz."

An optimist is a husband who feels the weather will soon be fit for his wife to plant the Victory Garden.

Forgiveness is not difficult if you go by the rules. The rule is to forgive the wrongdoer after he repents.

Holding a grudge requires two people—one to remember an injury, and one too arrogant to apologize.

We hear that Father's Day is inevitable. So he may as well prepare himself to grin and bear it.

Sowing pond lilies in the Victory Garden won't solve the food problem.

We think it a considerable honor to be a human being.

NO PUSH
We've heard of a lot of lazy men. But the worst that has yet been found is the one that waits in revolving doors.

For someone to push him around. Another thing liquor does is make conversation, and some of it is not so good.

A discordant note is one that is past due and there is no money with which to pay.

Very often things are not as bad as the stories told about them. And of course, often they are worse.

BRIDE'S FAMILY GIVES WEDDING

"I know the groom always goes to the bride's home town for their wedding—that the bride does not under ordinary circumstances, go to the groom's place of residence for the ceremony; but my fiancé is in the army—1500 miles away from my home. We both feel that we do not want to wait any longer to be married and are planning to have the ceremony at his camp to marry, on my vacation. Since my mother or any other member of my family will be unable to go with me, it is proper for me to go alone all that distance to be married. Mother questions it. Incidentally, ours is no fly-by-night love affair. We are both mature and have been engaged for over a year."

—Frances.

Many conventions are shattered during war time. And the usual custom of the groom's going to meet the bride is fast disappearing for the duration. With the uncertainty of furloughs and travel, I don't blame you for planning to go to his locality for the ceremony. Of course, it would be better if your mother or some other member of your family were to go along with you; but since this is impossible, it is perfectly all right for you, under the circumstances, to go alone, especially if you will be quietly married immediately on your arrival. I could not conscientiously recommend this to a very young girl marrying a young man as a result of a "war romance." But since you and your fiancé have been in love and have planned marriage for so long, my blessing to you! Doubtless you have weighed the pros and cons of a war marriage and feel that your love is big enough to endure all the hardships and heartbreaks you might encounter.

Question: I have been married for 18 years and would like to know the proper monogram for my sheets and pillow cases. Should I use my initials, K. A. R., or my husband's initials, W. O. R.—K. A. R.

Answer: Your initials—K. A. R., or merely "R."

Brave New World Doesn't Look Promising
Post-War Prescriptions Mostly Guessing
Even Optimistic Prophets Doubt Selves

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Most prescriptions for post-war prosperity are very complicated. Only celebrated professional economists are deemed competent even to discuss them in international conference. These boys themselves agree that they're doing little more than scientific guessing. Preceding wars always have been advertised, while in progress, as preliminary to one or another period of perfectly heavenly enjoyable, popular conditions to come. The opposing sides have done it in competition with one another, and invariably both of them have been fooled.

Occasionally a war has been followed by a brief boom, but it always has busted pretty shortly and a long depression has ensued. This record has made the professional prophets skeptical of their own broadcasts.

They continue to make them, as a matter of habit, I suppose, but they do it with a few fingers crossed on each hand.

They say that—
If, so-and-so, such-and-such policies are pursued, all will be well. They don't contend that their recommendations will be adopted, though. They're quite aware that they never are—or never HAVE BEEN in the past. Will this time be an exception? Few of the wizards are optimistic enough to answer "Yes."

Yet there's an exception. He turned up in Washington the other day in the person of Homer E. Capehart, multimillionaire Hoover manufacturer of war supplies and critic of the administration, who specifically points out what he thinks ought to be done and who expresses his conviction that the American voters will attend the DOING it at the next national election.

In short, says Business Leader Capehart, our next congress will be Republican.

That's "Economic Doc" Capehart's proposed remedy. Only he not only recommends it, he's convinced that the country will snap it down. It is likely that anyone will have to wonder long whether Capehart is a Republican or a Democrat!

Well, there might be room for discussion even then. There are Democrats as anti-New Deal as Republicans.

The question, among diagnosticians, is—
Will "Doc" Capehart's patients be able to assimilate his medicine or not?

He can see why they'll need it. So can anybody.

For a long period, the generality of folk will have been suffering for the ordinary necessities of life. The demand for them will be tremendous. And there'll be no limit to the capacity for supplying the demand. War requirements will have frayed out. Everybody will be hollering for exhausted peacetime stuff.

It's the old story. Accumulated demand and a delayed supply. There'll be the demand all right. But how will the would-be customers foot the bills?

That always been the difficulty. There hasn't been enough stuff, certainly. Prices have not been reasonable because there hasn't been what is called for to go around. What about wartime needs? They are right now.

"Postwar opportunities!" says Capehart.

But later on?
There won't be too much stuff or too many applicants for it, but can the would-be customers make change at the bargain counter?

Will the Democratic-Republican split at next election settle the question?

It will be an historic economic development if it does.

It will take about a generation for Capehart to prove his partisan proposition, though—or to lose out on it. If the Republicans win in the next election, perhaps he wins. If the G. O. P. does win and subsequent times are punk, he loses. He also loses if the New Deal wins and times are lovely.

In either event, my betting is that post-war times will be far from as glorious as advertised.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE PACIFIC FRONT

There are a number of straw in the wind which indicate that much, if not most of the big war news for the remainder of 1943 will come from the Pacific front. These indications come not alone from Washington, but from Tokyo and other capitals, as well. And bits of information from the far-flung battlefronts of the world, when pieced together, add weight to the conclusion that a tremendous effort will be made, perhaps by both sides, to break the stalemate in the Pacific.

First, there was a non-committal report on the conferences between American and British officials which have been going on in Washington since May 11. It had been announced that a joint statement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill would be issued. This gave way to a brief announcement that the conferences had been concluded and that there was complete agreement on future plans.

What future plans? They are, of course, military secrets and quite properly so. But the presence at the conferences of high British and American officers from the south-west Pacific and the Far East would, in itself, indicate that Asia and not Europe, was the major subject of discussion. Furthermore, our attack—successful so far—on Japanese-held positions in the Aleutians, apparently was timed to prepare the way for the next move in the Pacific.

Add to this the jittery nerves displayed by the Japs for the last two or three weeks. They have warned Russia against allowing us to use air bases in Siberia. They have launched a new drive against Chungking in an evident attempt to score a knockout blow against China before we can reach the Asiatic mainland in forces, or establish strong air bases from which to bomb Japan. The tenacity with which they cling to Attu Islands and the feverish attempts to reinforce Kiska further reveal their fears that we are headed toward the main Japanese Islands—seat of the empire.

From the Dies Committee come reports that openly pro-Japan elements in some of the e-location centers in this country profess to have information that "something terrible" is going to happen on the west coast of the United States before October first. These elements are represented as preferring to remain in the camps. This may or may not be propaganda, or it may reflect wishful thinking. At any rate, there appears to be some corroboration of the statements in the testimony of Kilsoo Haan, representative in Washington of Korean laborers.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

ED PAGE

A dispatch from London states that there is a boom in unrated goods such as bedspreads and blankets and that some stores have been stripped of these items.

The reason: There are not enough ration coupons for the average Londoner to buy enough clothing.

So now the women use blankets and bedspreads as raw materials for coats, dressing gowns and other wearables.

Sheets and pillow cases can be made into not very good-looking but practical lingerie and thus coupons are saved for more luxurious rationed apparel.

This is just one instance of what people can do when they are really face to face with war.

We do a lot of kicking because there isn't quite enough sugar, not quite enough meat, not quite enough coffee to satisfy our somewhat jaded appetites.

But what do we really know about war?

What have we really suffered? What have we sacrificed? Lowered as our living standards are at present, they are still much higher than the normal European standards in peacetime.

We don't seem to realize that we have been Nature's pampered pets. Luxuries to us are commonplace. Things that Europeans don't even dare to aspire are even a poor man's possessions here in America.

I had a letter from a soldier today: "You are a writer," he says, "you must have given much thought to my anxious moments."

Here it is: I volunteered for service. I don't ask how much they'd pay me, how many hours I would have to work.

"I felt that my country needed me so I went, without asking any questions."

"Now I read that people are striking everywhere for more money, for longer hours."

"They kick because gasoline goes to the fighting forces instead of pleasure cars."

"They grumble because they can't have meat every day and whipped cream."

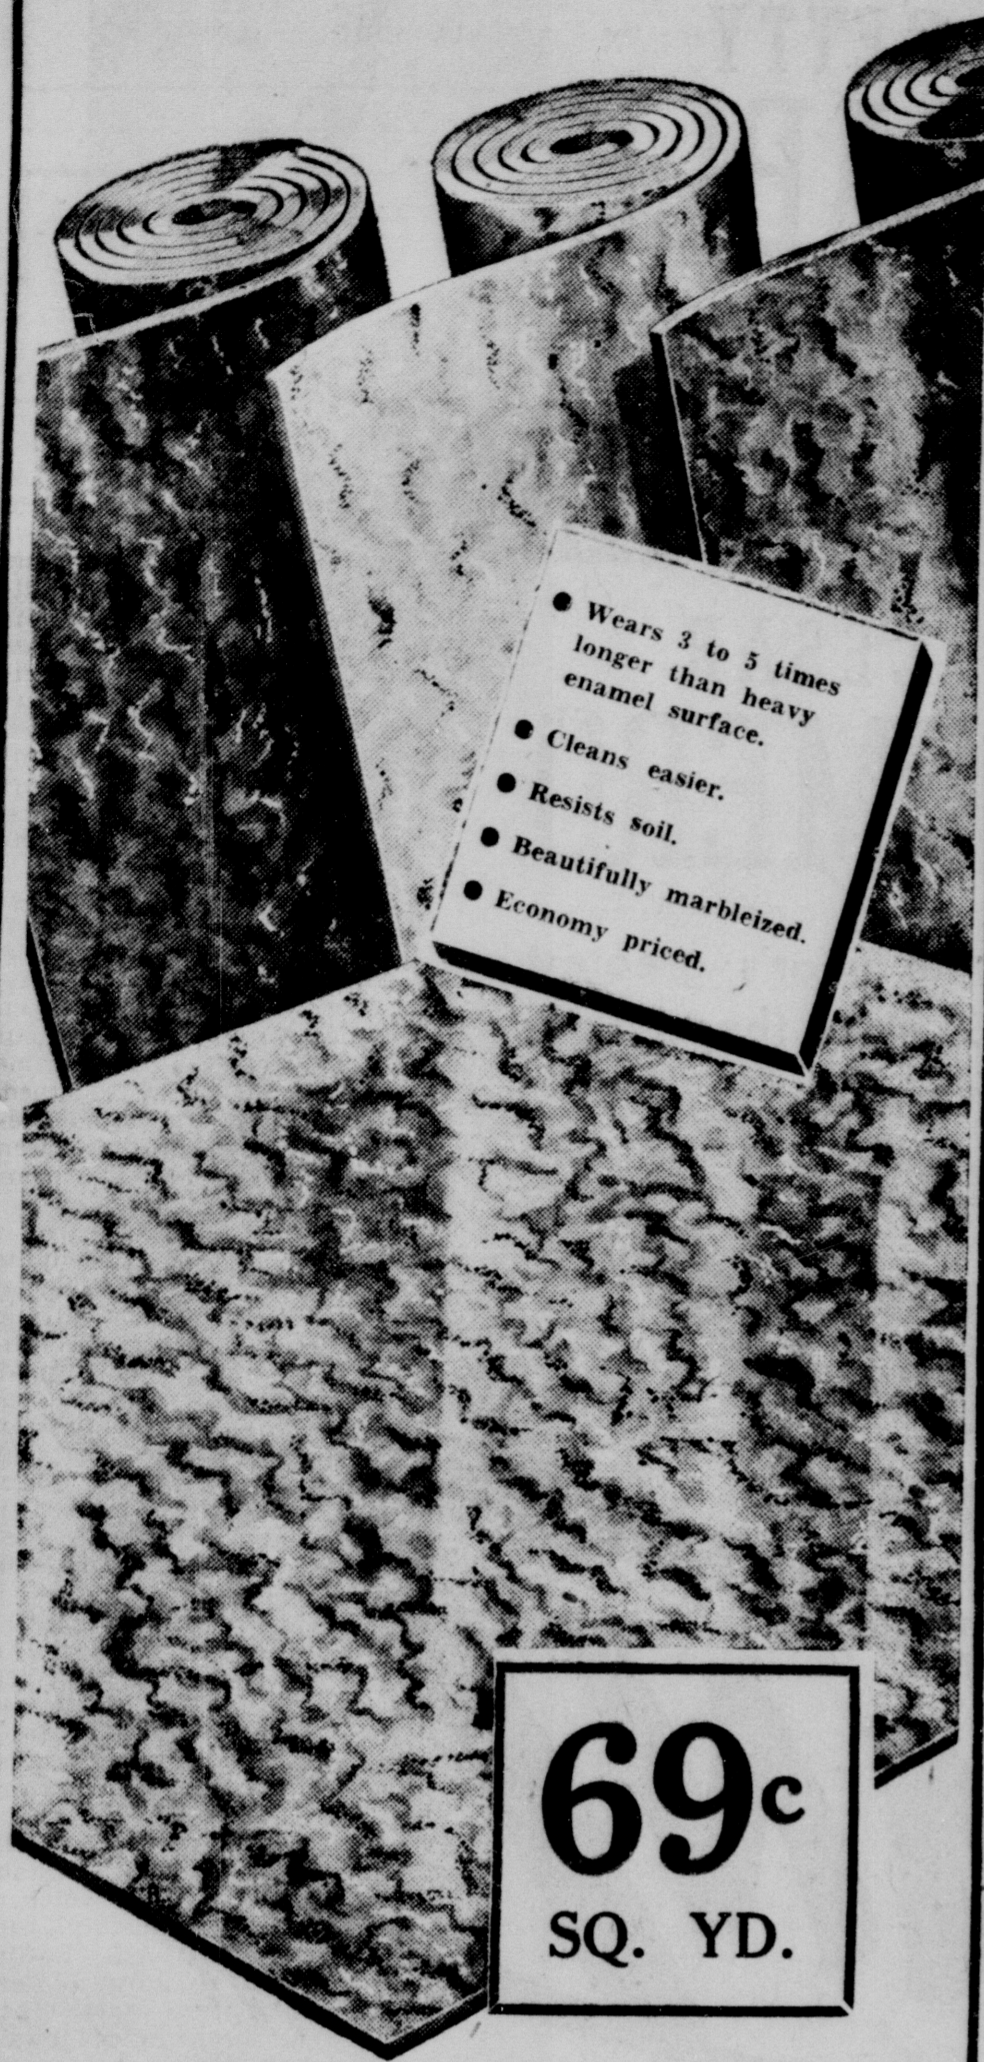

"For heavens' sake, what am I fighting for? Am I fighting for freedom or for steaks? Am I fighting to save my fellow citizens from slavery and death or for their stomachs and their pleasures?"

"Please tell me, I'm beginning to think that I'm a sucker."

Can you tell the boy? Or are you too busy trying to find a Black Market?

Average Soldier Better Fed Than In Civil Life

(International News Service)
FORT BENNING, Ga. — "The average soldier is better fed in the Army than he was in civilian life," according to Capt. Arthur L. Anderson, Fort Benning food and nutrition officer and former professor of applied nutrition at Iowa State College.

"Whenever it is available, the soldier receives the best in butter, eggs, and meat, and is made to eat at regular hours, which was not always true in civilian life," the officer pointed out.

The work of skilled specialists, the diet of America's fighting men is, he explained. Every field ration mess menu receives careful preparation by the local quartermaster, aided by a nutrition expert, and is finally approved by the post menu board, the captain continued.

"Our job," he said, "is to plan menus so that the proper amount of vitamins and nutritionally adequate foods are included in the diet."

Capt. Anderson said nutrition officers also inspect the mess hall and eat in them at set times in order to check cleanliness and see that waste is cut to a minimum.

New York Mayor Blasts Inaction On Black Markets

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 16.—Blasting the administration for what he termed its alleged failure to wipe out the black market, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia promised immediate relief in the food shortage along the eastern seaboard if given the power of the OPA.

"If the Government of the United States hasn't the intelligence and power to break a bootleg black market," the mayor warned, "then there isn't much hope for our country. It can be done. It must be done."

LaGuardia also criticized the OPA for its voluminous instructions to retailers. He recommended that price office officials use their volumes and books and tons of rules and regulations for fuel to solve the problem of increasing coal shortage.

Two Escaped German Prisoners Of War Captured In Texas

(International News Service)
AUSTIN, Tex., June 16.—Two escaped German prisoners of war were in jail in Austin today following their capture at Cedar Park near here.

The men were Ludwig Jung, 22, and Harold Stalleken, 23, both of whom broke out of the North Camp Hood prison camp a week ago.

A school teacher brought about the capture of the men late yesterday after they attempted to thumb a ride with her. The teacher, whose name was withheld, notified R. Faubion, a filling station operator and the local postmaster. Faubion organized a posse and the Germans were captured without a fight.

Jung said he and Stalleken gave up because they were hungry. Five others who escaped with them were captured previously.

Military officials were to take charge of the men today.

Reveal Quake Shock Occurs On Jap Islands

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 16.—Two of the main islands in the Japanese archipelago were rocked Sunday by earth tremors, a broadcast dispatch by the Japanese Domei news agency said today.

The announcement by the Tokyo radio, reported to the office of war information, claimed that no damages were reported as a result of the shocks felt on Honshu, where Tokyo itself is located, and on Hokkaido to the north.

The quake was sufficiently strong for seismographs in New York to record the tremor and place the epicenter off the east coast of Japan.

ARMY WEARS COTTON ON TIP FROM HOBOS

(International News Service)
JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 16.—The Army wearing cotton in Alaska, the Jersey City Quartermasters Depot reports.

Veteran polar explorers confirm the idea that keeping warm in the Arctic is mainly a matter of repelling wind and water. It was found that instead of one heavy garment, several layers of alternately cotton and wool topped by a light, tightly woven water and wind resistant coat proved most satisfactory.

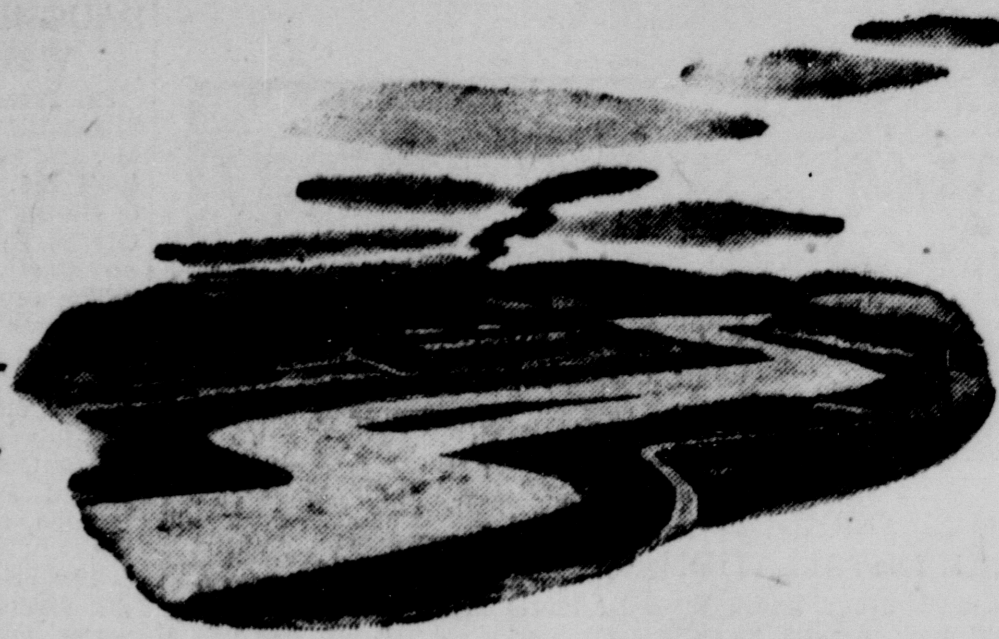

Hoboes had in a crude way always practiced this theory when they lined their outer clothing with several layers of newspaper.

Oddly, it also was found that woolen makes a good fabric for the tropics. A knitted woolen sweater with high collar and long sleeves is standard equipment for equatorial climates because after a hot day, the nights are often chilly.

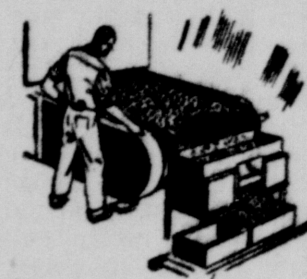

Piles—Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 30 years have found a way to get quick relief from the itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling, soothing and astringent formula—Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night." Peterson's Ointment is marvelous. 35c a box, all drug stores. 60c in tube with applicator. Money back if not delighted.

Little things that become Big Things weather, — plating with lacquer, copper, cadmium, nickel, chrome, zinc, silver, lead—dipping in dichromate, sealing with plastics. A vast cycle of experiments were tried and tested and the results compared. From all this effort came a standardized product made of steel, and approved for use on all the battle fronts.

The making of this ammunition is really the art of producing many pieces rapidly—many thousands per minute, every day, 6 days a week. Ninety-nine operations are performed to take each piece of ammunition from the lead, steel and powder stage to the formed, loaded, tested and packed, finished article—ready to shoot, — with every piece perfect in shape, finish, and firing efficiency.

We have made our first billion of this steel ammunition. Not that this is a top record for ammunition making but, to us, it is a milestone passed on the road to Victory. We will pass the second and third billion with much less emotion but we really got a thrill out of joining the ranks of the important producers of ammunition.

With this change to steel we release, with every billion rounds, thousands of tons of brass. This brass can now be used in war production where no other substitute is possible.

"A LITTLE THING BECAME BIG"

A finished round of ammunition weighs only a few ounces. Little things often do become really big and important.

THE U. S. ARMY Ordnance Department, early in 1942, asked one of our executives if we had a factory near a good supply of water, of sufficient size to make small calibre ammunition at the rate of many millions every twenty-four hours. We had such a factory on the Ohio River with enough feet of floor space.

"FROM CARS TO BULLETS FOR TOMMY GUNS, PISTOLS, REVOLVERS"

It was well placed near additional unused land and far enough from the city to allow the storage of powder and the loading and testing of ammunition.

The work of preparation was started immediately. The automobile machinery in the plant, which could not be used, was dismantled and put elsewhere. It was replaced by new and different equipment. A specialized laboratory was installed and staffed with engineers, metallurgists, and technicians drawn from our widely diversified staff. Production executives and specialists were also selected from our own personnel. While the factory was being prepared for production, the Frankford arsenal assisted the training of these production specialists who, in turn, were to train the workers and supervise the operation of the many departments of the plant.

The first finished ammunition produced in this newly organized plant went on test in May, 1942. The cartridge cases were then made of brass. Brass is an extremely vital war material. Could steel be used instead? Could steel be worked over the machinery and tools that were provided for the use of brass? Could the steel be treated to withstand the corrosion of a long sea voyage and to resist successfully the humidity of the tropics and the sub-zero temperatures of the Arctic? The U. S. Army Ordnance Department—and our own engineers, metallurgists and technicians believed it could. More engineering talent—this time chemists—were added to the laboratory staff and the larger and more complete Chrysler Corporation's laboratories, in Detroit, were also directed to the solution of this problem.

The first of the new steel casings were made in the month of August, 1942. They were pretty good. Then began severe testing,—spraying with wet salt air, burying in salty mud marshes washed by the tide,—storing in hot damp rooms and open exposure to the

LYNN-SAVELLI WEDDING TAKES PLACE TUESDAY

A lovely and impressive June wedding took place Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Italian Methodist church, South Mill and Phillips streets. In the presence of many relatives and friends when Miss Susie Savelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fortunato Savelli of 236 Shady-side, became the bride of Robert Lynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lynn Thompson of 215 E. Grant street.

Entering the sanctuary on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage, the bride was attractive in a Princess style white taffeta gown, made entrain and three-quarter length sleeves. Her lace trimmed face veil was bonnet shape with a crown of orange blossoms and also a long train. She carried an arm bouquet of white calla lilies and baby mums showered with white taffeta streamers. She wore a yellow gold chain and cross, a gift from the groom.

Miss Elizabeth Giancola of Ellwood City, Pa., as maid of honor, was attired in a Princess style orchid brocade organdie gown, three-quarter length sleeves, and a tiara with a long veil and yellow accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow tea roses showered with yellow streamers.

Paul Savelli, brother of the bride, served as best man.

The bridal party approached the altar to the strains of Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus" played by the pastor's wife, Mrs. F. P. Sulmonetti. At the close of the ceremony she played "Mendelssohn's Wedding March."

Before the altar artistically arranged with palms, ferns, peonies and gladioli, the vows were exchanged with the Rev. Francesco P. Sulmonetti, pastor of the church, officiating. He used the single ring service.

Congratulations were received at a dinner for 50 guests given in the bride's home at Shady-side. The reception was held in the evening from 8 to 11 o'clock, and immediately following Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lynn left for Pittsburgh. Upon their return they will reside at 236 Shady-side.

Out of town guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Giancola and family of Ellwood City, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. James Donatelli of Lowellville, Ohio, and Mr. Dan Mazzocco of Lowellville, Ohio.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Daugherty, of 1927 Pennsylvania avenue, before an empanment of palms, ferns and flowers.

Rev. Charles Bell, of Ellwood City, retired Presbyterian minister, officiated, using the single ring service.

The bride was attired in a black, pin striped suit with white accessories, with shoulder corsage of gardenias and orange blossoms.

The couple's attendants were the parents of the bride and the groom's mother.

Appropriate nuptial music was played by Mrs. Mary Crowthers, organist, and Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, aunt of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly."

People's League, who profess to have information that the Japs already have prepared elaborate plans for bombing attacks and even an invasion of the Pacific Coast. Mr. Haan, who spoke more than a year ago in San Diego, has long headed a counter-espionage group of Koreans, operating in Japan, and he predicted the attack upon Pearl Harbor two months before it occurred.

There is no question that Japan has long planned an attack and an invasion of this country when and if conditions permit. While Mr. Haan's views doubtless will be credited by many who prefer to regard him as an alarmist, it would be far wiser to accept them and then be pleasantly disappointed than to ignore them and suffer a rude awakening. Whether Japan can attempt the ambitious plans which he discloses doubtless will depend upon our own success in carrying the war to the Japanese Islands or the Asiatic mainland.

The European phase of the conflict, which appears to have settled down for the moment into a war of attrition, largely from the air, is such that it need not seriously interfere with our going ahead more strongly against Japan. The Allies appeal to be depending largely upon aerial "softening up" to render Europe vulnerable and the presence in England and in North Africa of large American forces, the British troops that have been held in readiness since Dunkerque plus the Russian armies, probably are in sufficient numbers to care for that situation when the time comes.

Therefore, it would appear that this is the year for a Pacific decision probably not an end to the war against Japan but certainly a year in which the Japs' measure can be taken and upon which to base a more accurate forecast of how long the final phase will take.

Both the Allies and Japan, apparently, realize that the present stalemate cannot go on much longer. Both sides give every evidence, short of actual revelation of plans, that something big is getting under way. It is a tense period in both countries, the difference being that in the United States there is no evidence of worry over the outcome. In Japan every indication points to the opposite. The Japs are worried, and they show it every day, the latest evidence being a sudden call for an extraordinary session of the Japanese diet.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What would you do if you had to tell your ten-year-old constantly to brush her teeth?

A. I would set a regular time each day when I would go right with her to see that she brushed her teeth then, till such time as she decided to take this responsibility for herself.

Q. Should a boy or girl 8 or 10 years old do the dishes once a day before going out to play?

A. Yes; and if there are more than one child, it usually is better for them to take turns doing the dishes alone. The child should find it about as hard to escape this responsibility as to escape breathing.

If he is well a week and sick a week, he wears himself out dancing with the Devil and scampering in terror back to his God.

New York Mayor Facing Inquiry

Council Of Metropolis Votes For Investigation Of Entire Administration

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 16—A sweeping investigation into the entire administration of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia was voted by the New York City council today.

Moving with unusual speed the council met at 12:01 A. M. and authorized the investigation by a vote of 18 to 5.

All departments of the La Guardia administration are subject to investigation under the wide powers voted a special committee. The specific target of the councilmen was said to be the office of William B. Herlands, commissioners of investigation.

The council acted with unprecedented speed, it was said, in order to allow the committee to subpoena papers, documents and evidence that Commissioners Herlands turned over to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan in connection with the recent extortion prosecution of Milton Solomon, former democratic deputy city controller. Solomon was acquitted recently by a jury of attempting to extort money from Maurice Holt, a stirrup pump manufacturer.

BUS SERVICE IS RESUMED

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 16—Normal service was resumed today by Greyhound buses operating out of the Pittsburgh terminal as 325 AFL drivers and mechanics ended a 12-hour strike over the discharge of a driver on Monday. About 200 persons were stranded in the line's huge Grant street depot by the sudden walkout.

After a conference last night among union leaders, army and navy representatives, federal conciliators and bus company officials, Greyhound regional manager H. S. Crawford announced:

"The men agreed to return to work unconditionally, and present their alleged grievances to us tomorrow in the proper and usual way according to their contract. The whole trouble grew out of the firing of one driver, who was discharged because he refused to pull a run to which he had been assigned. The first report about two men being involved was erroneous."

More Than 2,000 Red Cross Blood Donors Registered Here Now

Over 2,000 Blood Donor registrations have been received at the Red Cross chapter house on North Beaver street and at the accelerated rate enrollments have been coming in during the past week, the number is expected to reach 3,000 before the arrival of the mobile unit of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service in New Castle on Monday, June 21.

While the age limit for older people who wish to contribute blood for the Red Cross blood plasma work is 60, registrations have been received from a number of older people who have said they would like to contribute. One woman 72 years old sent in a registration but rules of the Blood Donor Service will not permit her to donate. Adults from 18 to 60 years of age may be blood donors.

Included among the registrations are a number from industries and business firms, whose employees signed to give blood for this vital work of the Red Cross.

State Personnel To Be Decreased

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 16—Gov. Edward Martin was hopeful today of accomplishing sizeable reductions in state government personnel for the duration of the war but was unaware how many workers would be dropped from the state's payroll.

"All departments have been directed to streamline their personnel in order to be more economic in their operation," he said.

The governor said that although many employees have been dropped in recent months other dismissals could be expected and that department chiefs had been directed to weed out unnecessary employees.

He emphasized that officials would be called into conference at "frequent intervals" to report their progress in pruning the payrolls.

The governor said he did not know what percentage of the more than 25,000 employees would be dismissed.

Governor Martin pointed out that dismissals in the highway department enabled Secretary John U. Shroyer to slash operational costs an estimated $107,000 annually and save more than 200,000 gallons of gasoline and approximately 1000 automobile tires a year.

O'NEILL IS FOUND NOT GUILTY BY JURY VERDICT

Verdict Is Returned At County Court This Morning—Court Session Ends

Leo E. O'Neill, charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of George Moore on May 31, was today found not guilty but was assessed the costs of the case by the jury hearing it. The case started Monday and went to the jury late Tuesday afternoon. The verdict was returned to Judge W. Walter Braham this morning.

On the night of May 31, the deceased George Moore fell to the floor of a bar room on East Washington street and died before regaining consciousness. O'Neill was arrested charged with having struck Moore.

In the preliminary hearing before Alderman O. H. P. Green the facts developed seemed to indicate that the death of Moore was an unfortunate sequel to a friendly scuffle. Because a man had died the alderman felt the case serious enough to be heard by the grand jury. The grand jury returned a true bill.

The testimony adduced by the commonwealth in the trial this week showed little evidence of any fighting. The defendant did not take the stand himself and called but one witness. A directed verdict of acquittal was asked for Mr. O'Neill, and while this motion was refused, Judge Braham did charge the jury that there was no evidence of assault and battery which would be necessary to substantiate a verdict of guilty of involuntary manslaughter. The verdict of acquittal was a surprise.

The case against James Stillwagon charging larceny is still with the jury. After taking the case Tuesday afternoon the jury could not agree upon a verdict by midnight and the jurors used the bedrooms provided by the county. At noon today the jury was still out.

Today's cases and the term of court in court room number one before Judge W. Walter Braham the case against Lewis Forsythe charging indecent assault was called.

Before Judge John G. Lamoree in court room number two a morals charge against Robert Pullman went to trial. All other jurors were dismissed and paid off and when verdicts are arrived at in the two current cases the session will be over. The jury called for next week will not be used. When the term started there were 20 cases to be tried. Pleas reduced the number to five.

Repeat Poison Gas To Be Reciprocated

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 16.—The White House reiterated President Roosevelt's warning that the use of poison gas by the enemy would be "reciprocated in kind," on the heels of reports from Chinese government sources that the Japanese have made use of the gas against both the Chinese army and Chinese civilian population.

Asked if reports on the use of gas had reached the White House, Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early declared he did not know whether such reports had been transmitted to the United States government. If the reports were being transmitted, Early said, they would come to this government from two channels of information—the state department and the army.

Demonstration Free To Public Will Cover Range Of Preserving Methods

Miss Wilma Mundy, State College nutritionist will be guest demonstrator of the Lawrence County Nutrition Council in New Castle on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week at canning demonstrations in two city schools, which will be free and open to the public.

DeGaulle-Giraud Near Showdown

Crucial Meeting Of French Committee Of National Liberation Scheduled

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
ALGIERS, June 16.—A crucial showdown meeting today of the French committee of national liberation was scheduled to act on the dispute between its co-chairman, Gen. Charles De Gaulle and Gen. Henri Giraud, over the reorganization of the United French fighting forces.

Gen. De Gaulle, who summoned today's meeting, was expected to preside and to renew his demand for a large-scale purge of the army's leadership in the field and to introduce a motion requesting for himself the portfolio of minister of war.

He also was expected to insist that he be permitted to act as sole final authority on French civilian affairs, and to argue that the dual presidency of the liberation committee was cumbersome and impractical. His present scheme would make Gen. Giraud commander-in-chief of the fighting forces, subject to orders from Gen. De Gaulle and other members of the liberation committee. The De Gaulle theory now is that Gen. Giraud, while commanding troops in the field, cannot divide his duties by appearing at liberation committee meetings, presiding alternately with Gen. De Gaulle.

Stilwell Is Sure U.S. Can Handle 'Long, Hard Job'

Commander Of Forces In China Sees No Easy Victory Over Japanese Foe

CALLS YANKS IN TUNISIA SUPERB

By JOHN W. JARRELL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN ARMY FORCES IN CHINA, June 16—A warning that, although the road to victory over Japan will be long and hard America plans "to see this thing through," was sounded today by Lieut.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell, commander of American forces in this theater.

The blunt-spoken general who marched on foot with his men out of Burma in the early days of the war, labeled the Nipponese war lords and any others who sought trouble with the United States as plain "damn fools." But, as he added, eventual triumph will come about only after a long, hard struggle.

Hard Job Ahead

"We have a hell of a hard job ahead," he said. "We've got a determined, savage enemy—and there's plenty of him. It will take a lot of hard fighting to get there, but there is no lack of determination."

The China-Burma-India theater played a major role in staff conferences at London and Washington from which he recently returned. Stilwell said. It was here that he said grimly, "we're going to see this thing through!"

"was thoroughly considered and China's needs gone into at length." He loudly praised the aerial support given Chinese ground forces by American fliers in recent fighting along the upper Yangtze, pointing out that it supplied the answer to a major lack hindering the men of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek.

Africa "Grand Job"

The purpose of the Washington conference, he disclosed, was in part to integrate this theater's activities into the global war strategy. On his return, Stilwell visited other American commanders to help them co-ordinate their efforts to the general scheme.

He said he was greatly impressed with the "grand job" done by the Americans in North Africa and went on: "I've always said anybody who stirs up the United States is just a damn fool. He'd better get out of their way when they make up their minds."

Shipping Ease

The Mediterranean victories he saw as bound to ease the shipping situation in the Orient. Praising the efficiency of allied men and commanders in North Africa, he said that he saw there "an enormous amount of Axis junk" on the battlefields, including guns, tanks and planes.

Stilwell said he was puzzled by the sudden crackup of the Axis in North Africa, where both the German and Italian prisoners appeared to be young, hardy fighting men. But, he continued, the Americans possessed all these qualities and, in addition, were "superb."

"I'd say those (American) outfits were ready for anything," he declared. Promising a thorough co-ordination of allied activity in the far east, he disclosed that already there is a constant interchange of information between this theater and the south Pacific area.

PRaises Soldiers' Attacks On Zoot Suit 'Degenerates'

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 16—Rep. Rankin (D) Miss., Tuesday told the house, in commenting on the clashes between servicemen and "zoot suit" gangs, that he hoped the soldiers and sailors could "run these degenerates off the earth."

In a brief speech, Rankin said that servicemen should be credited instead of criticized, for tearing zoot suits off youths in various cities.

"If they could just keep this up until they run this bunch of degenerates off the earth, I'm in favor of giving each one a medal or decoration, or even a furlough," the congressman shouted.

STRIKE IS ENDED AT JOHNSTOWN

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 16—Street cars and buses were operating as usual in Johnstown today, marking the end of a three-day strike by 300 employees of the Johnstown company in protest against a reduced wage increase by the war labor board regional office.

The back-to-work movement last night two hours after the trolley operators and bus drivers voted "overwhelmingly" to return pending outcome of an appeal to the WLB for reconsideration of their wage demand. The strike, at its height, affected service for 250,000 persons, including many war-workers.

The walkout started Sunday when the WLB approved only a seven-cents-an-hour pay boost instead of the 15 cents hourly recommended by the arbitration panel.

PLANES LAND ON FIELD PARTLY HELD BY JAPS

(International News Service)

ASTORIA, Ore., June 16—Planes from a stricken aircraft carrier landed on Henderson Field, Guadalcanal, while it was still a no-man's land with Japanese troops in possession of one end, according to Lieut. Gordon A. Sherwood, U. S. N., who was aboard one of the planes.

When the U. S. S. Hornet was sunk his group of 32 planes had no choice but to land on Guadalcanal, where the Marines had landed only a few hours before.

Despite the Marine radio's advice to stay clear, the planes landed at night in a hail of Japanese bullets. Sherwood said the Marines sent two jeeps which shuttled back and forth rushing the flyers to the American lines.

FARMS AND FARMERS OF LAWRENCE COUNTY

By Lewis C. Dayton, County Agent

CONTROL BROWN ROT AND SCAB ON FRUIT

Wet weather since bloom has allowed brown rot blossom and twig infections to increase rapidly on peaches, cherries, plums, and even flower-in crabs. This buildup of the fungus increases the chances of severe brown rot loss to the peach crop.

Scab is plentiful in many orchards on the twigs formed last year. The occurrence of even average rainfall until harvest will allow brown rot and scab to become destructive where thorough spray coverage is not maintained.

To prevent brown rot and scab infection of fruit, twigs, and leaves, start spraying immediately and, if possible, complete coverage within a week.

Use one of the following sulphur fungicides: A wettable sulphur according to manufacturer's directions, or self-boiled lime sulphur 16-16-100 (16 pounds sulphur, 16 pounds lime, 100 gallons of water). Where brown rot is severe, self-boiled lime sulphur usually gives better control.

Thoroughly cover the fruit, leaves and smaller twigs with a fine mist spray. Avoid using too much pressure against the foliage. To avoid burning, spray only when the temperature is below 85 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade.

LATE BLIGHT AGAIN MAY STRIKE POTATOES EARLY

Weather conditions this spring have been so similar to those of last year that potato growers again may expect late blight to strike early as it did last year.

The only way to prevent repetition of last year's disaster to the potato crop is to spray early and late with bordeaux mixture. That means early as soon as the rows can be seen and at weekly intervals as long as the vines are alive. Bordeaux mixture is made with 8 pounds of bluestone and 8 pounds of lime, hydrated or burned, and 100 gallons of water.

In 1942 Pennsylvania potato growers experienced the worst late blight in the history of the state. With 157,000 acres of potatoes, about the same as the 1941 acreage, they got only 17,300,000 bushels compared with a crop of 20,500,000 bushels in 1941.

A program of continuous and thorough spraying with bordeaux mixture insures the grower against late blight and promises the best possible crop that other conditions will allow.

EVEN GOOD PASTURE IS NOT GOOD ENOUGH FOR COWS

The pasture season is here. Pasture furnishes the best and cheapest feed for dairy cows. The dairyman who has been treating his pasture the past few years is at an advantage, for he has available pasture in greater abundance and also a feed that is much higher in protein content than average pasture.

Too often, however, many dairymen consider that pasture is all that is necessary and no other feed is needed. This may be true with yearling heifers, dry or low producing cows. High producing cows, however, cannot eat enough grass per day to maintain flesh and a high production. It is true that grass stimulates extra production in many cows but some cows will lose flesh and drop in production later if they are not fed additional feed.

First, Dry Hay.—Feeding a small amount of dry hay throughout the pasture season is a practice adopted by many dairymen with excellent results. Pasture grass is a rather laxative feed. The dry hay slows up the grass through the digestive tract and more nutrients are assimilated by the cow. The feeding of 4 to 5 pounds of dry hay per day also helps cows to hold up in production better during the fall months. Yearling heifers and dry cows also will do much better if they receive some dry hay each day.

Second, Grain.—Heavy producing cows will need some grain. This need not be in large amounts nor of a high protein content. A 12 to 16 per cent protein mixture usually is sufficient. Feed Guernseys and Jerseys one pound of grain for each 4 or 5 pounds of milk if producing more than 20 pounds per day. Other breeds should receive one pound of grain for each 5 or 6 pounds of milk if they are giving more than 25 pounds of milk per day. The amount of grain fed will depend upon quality and amount of pasture available and the individual cow.

Third, Dry Weather.—If pasture becomes short during July and August, it will be necessary to feed supplemental feeds, such as silage, green soybeans, green corn, more hay, or heavier grain.

Fourth, Clipping.—Clipping pastures makes for better feed. The shorter, newer grass is more palatable and more nutritious. Keep the young grass growing similar to a lawn. Bluegrass is now headed out and should be clipped at once to keep it growing.

SAVE BREEDER COCKERELS FOR USE IN 1944 SEASON

With the active demand for poultry meat, there are tendencies for poultry growers to sell all their cockerels as they are ready for market. Poultrymen who expect to produce hatchlings should select their 1944 breeder cockerels now.

Cockerels for breeders generally can be saved from the same flocks from which the pullets are selected, and standard types—vigorous, fast-feathering, heavy-fleshed cockerels, should be saved as breeders. Many cockerels start mating at 5 to 6 months of age, but it is better to have them about 8 months old when they are put in the breeding pens.

STRONG DEMAND FOR ORCHARD GRASS SEED

Orchard grass seed is seriously needed for domestic and Allied use and the supply is short. Every pound harvested in Pennsylvania for home use will relieve the situation and increase the supply.

Many fields of orchard grass may get too old and woody for good feed of the late, wet spring. These fields may be harvested with a combine in early July when the seed is ripe and before it shatters badly.

Another method of harvesting is to mow it before the seed is fully ripe, windrow it, and cut it as hay and thresh it with the pick-up combine. Still another method is to cut it with a binder, shock it, and thresh it out later.

The seed must be dried sufficiently before bagging and storing so that it does not heat or mold.

Yields of 200 to 250 pounds of clean seed to the acre may be expected from good stands. At present prices, this will represent a good return.

Further information may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle, Pa.

PLANT LATE BEETS AND CARROTS FOR STORAGE

From June 15 to 25 is a good time to plant beets and carrots to produce high-quality, deeply colored roots for winter storage. Rutabagas are planted early in July in most of the state, followed by yellow turnips the middle of July and white turnips the last of July.

Fair deep, moist, well-drained fertile loam soil containing a liberal amount of well-decayed organic matter is needed for root crops and the lime requirement for beets and carrots is high.

Fertilizer at the rate of 1,000 to 2,000 pounds to the acre of 4-10-10, 5-10-10, 4-12-12, or 4-16-10 may be drilled deeply before planting. Twelve to 18 inches between rows are standard distances for wheel hoe or small tractor cultivation, but 24 to 30 inches is the spacing where horses are used. One ounce of beet and a half-ounce of carrot seed to 100 feet of row are good rates of seeding.

The plants should be thinned as soon as they attain a convenient size and before they become crowded. Two or three inches in the row ordinarily is allowed.

Frequent shallow cultivation will control weeds without injuring the root system. The knife attachments on hand cultivators and small tractors are efficient in killing weeds and destroy few roots. Many of the roots on beet and carrot plants grow very near the surface and cultivation even at a depth of 2 inches may be quite destructive.

Beets and carrots are pulled and topped as soon as large enough for use. For storage and canning, beets of 1½ to 2 inches diameter usually are preferred, but carrots of 2 or more inches in diameter are more desirable.

VARY WAYS OF SERVING TO MAKE VEGETABLES CLICK

Vegetables, as good as they are for everyone, become slightly uninteresting if always served in the same way, reminds Miss Anna Marie Quinn, home economics extension representative, Lawrence County.

All vegetables can be dressed up differently when they appear on the dinner table, she points out. Herbs, sauces, and other seasonings add a new flavor to any vegetable.

Fresh asparagus is pretty as a picture when served steaming hot, seasoned with melted butter or hollandaise sauce. When cooked in milk it retains most of its luscious green color. On the cold side, asparagus salad, served with a tart orange dressing and a sprinkling of hard-cooked egg is enough to whet anyone's appetite.

String beans fresh from the garden are tasty and different when seasoned with butter in which chopped onions or chives have been cooked. A sprig of basil, summer savory, sweet marjoram, or sage gives cooked string beans a delightful flavor. Usually two or three leaves of the herb may be enough.

As for greens, such as spinach, try serving with a mustard or a sweet-sour sauce. Or a spinach soufflé may hit the spot.

Most vegetables are good served with a cream sauce in which a little chopped parsley has been added. In most cases the small amount of water in which the vegetables were cooked can be used for part of the liquid in the cream sauce. Some of the food value remains in this cooking liquid and there's no need to pour it down the drain.

PORCH DINING ROOM IDEAL FOR HOT WEATHER DAYS

Is the porch just an architectural structure of your house or do you make use of it during the warm summer days? A comfortable attractive porch where one may rest an hour or so will help to overcome the fatigue and strain after a busy day in the fields and gardens.

A porch off the kitchen can be used for a dining center, says Miss Anna Marie Quinn, home economics extension representative, Lawrence County. It will be restful to sit there and enjoy a good nourishing meal. This porch should be screened, and if it is large enough it may be furnished with comfortable chairs for a living room.

The manufacture of metal porch furniture is out for the duration so if you have some make it last. Be sure to keep it painted to prevent it from rusting. However, if rust spots already have appeared, wash and dry, then sand the spots and the edges of the enamel around each spot. Apply a coat of good quality outdoor house paint or automobile enamel. A final coat of spar varnish will help preserve the finish.

Other types of furniture may be spruced up to meet the occasion, explains Miss Quinn. Clean wicker furniture with a brush dipped in warm soapsuds and rinse with clear water. Splint seats in wood chairs may be renewed and the whole chair given a coat of paint. Cushions or chair pads may be covered with cretonne or water repellent material of harmonizing colors to brighten up the porch.

To renew fiber porch rugs, use regular house paint thinned with one-fourth as much turpentine. Mix thoroughly and brush well into the fibers. The best sections of worn linoleum floor covering may be cut out to make small rugs for the porch. Paint these rugs with a good quality floor paint and stipple with paint of contrasting color.

REVISED CLOTHING RULING AIMS TO SAVE MATERIAL

Further saving of materials and manpower in the manufacture of women's ready-made clothing is to be accomplished by the revision of the ruling known as L-85, reports Miss Anna Marie Quinn, home economics extension representative, Lawrence County. This revision became effective May 27, 1943, and will affect the manufacture of fall garments.

While the changes are not drastic, it is believed they will result in a saving of 10 per cent in all kinds of piece goods used for civilian clothing.

Using a size 16 as a model, the following are the principal changes in daytime dresses:

1. The sweep, width of skirt at hem, is reduced from 78 inches to 72 inches.
2. Hip measure, 9 inches below the waistline, cannot exceed 56 inches. For example, this would mean a gathered, tucked, or pleated skirt would be limited to 56 inches in width of fabric used at hipline.
3. Sleeve length, from side of neck over the shoulder to bottom of the sleeve, cannot exceed 30 inches.
4. Trimming allowance on non-transparent fabric is a half yard of 39-inch material. This applies to all sizes and includes pockets, bows, ruffles, etc.
5. Ruffles and collars can be no more than 5 inches wide, collars must be of single thickness material, and two pockets are the limit for a dress.
6. The amount of quilting on a dress is limited to 300 square inches.
7. The popular short topcoat is limited to 33 inches, the length at center back from neck to hem.
8. Double breasted closings are eliminated in jackets of all types.

Garments not included in the original L-85 order but now under restrictions are maternity clothes, neckwear, sheer evening dresses, and small children's clothing.

Clothing made in the home is exempt from the provisions of L-85, but patterns were revised to conform to the restrictions. The present stock of patterns may be sold, but those made after May 27 must include the revisions.

MAY SEND PARCELS TO WAR PRISONERS

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, June 16.—Close relatives of United Nations prisoners of war may now send standard food parcels to identified prisoners in Europe through the American Red Cross, it was announced Tuesday at the Harrisburg chapter office.

The new regulations, which became effective on June 10, do not cover prisoners of the Japanese owing to a current transportation shortage in the Far East.

According to Red Cross officials, the standard package may be sent only under regulations which may be obtained through local chapters. The cost is $3.50 and the package is the same type as is distributed regularly to all American prisoners of war by the U. S. army and navy. The new regulations do not apply to civilians living in enemy-occupied countries.

EVEN a general in Africa writes home how much he misses meeting the gang downtown to enjoy a Coca-Cola. Overseas, Coke is a refreshing remembrance of home. Men cherish its taste and refreshment.

The newspapers have been full of such incidents. Such as Bataan survivors getting hold of some fruit, eggs and Coca-Cola. Mighty welcome fare to them, they said.

These men, like yourself, have found in ice-cold Coca-Cola all the difference between something really refreshing and just something to drink. Yes, the only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

Word that "the Coke's in" packs any canteen these days. Every good soldier wants the drink that adds energy to refreshment.

NEW YORK, June 16.—

The Brooklyn Dodgers are missing more than Pete Reiser and Pee-wee Reese in their 1943 campaign. They are needy, as never before, of the man who, through the sheer force of his personality, pushed the Dodgers to the top—Larry McPhail. Since McPhail went to war, the grizzled veterans of Brooklyn are finding it increasingly hard to rally behind the man whose explosive epithet is "Judas Priest!"—Branch Rickey.

It is reasonable to assume that McPhail through the dint of threats and blue-streaked oratory, would somehow manage to break off the plague of losses by one run that has hit the Dodgers. In nine games with the Boston Braves, the Dodgers lost eight by a single tally. They started off on the same foot with the New York Giants yesterday, losing to the Mel Otters, 6 to 5.

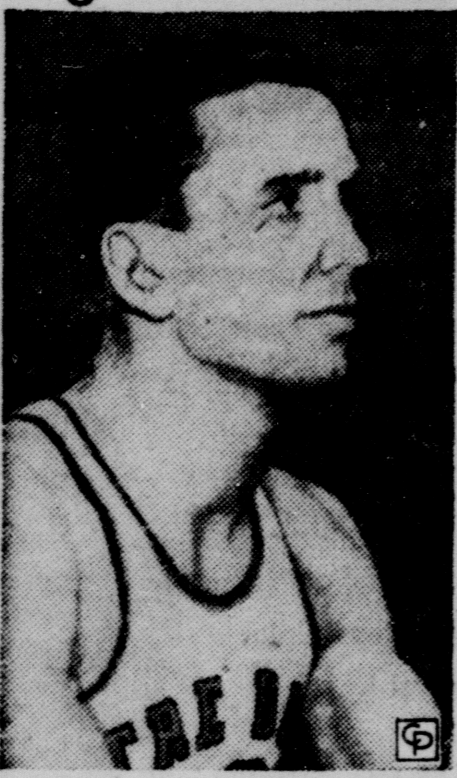

Cards' Pad Lead
While Brooklyn continued to slip down the ladder, the St. Louis Cardinals were consolidating their position in first place with a 3 to 1 win over the Cincinnati Reds in the first game of a double-header. The second contest was postponed.

City Loop Tilts Are Called Off

Thursday's Card Pairs Moose Vs. Indies And Elders Against Potters

After playing five successive games, City Baseball leagues were forced indoors by rain yesterday. Last night's program called for contests between the Lawrence Indies and Elders on Marshall Field and the Potters vs. Moose on Lee avenue field. The tilts will be added to the "postponed roll." President Mike Donovan announced.

Indies Face Moose
Thursday's round will be highlighted by a game between the league leading Indies and Moose on the Indies' park, Mahoning avenue. The Moose gain a tie for the top berth by winning.

In the other setto, the Elders and Potters swing bludgeons on Lee avenue field. The clashes start at 6 o'clock.

COX DISLIKES FRICK'S RULING ON CARD PROTEST

Plans To Take Case To Judge Landis; Phil Owner Is Burned Up

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—William D. Cox, president of the Phillies, sharply criticized today the ruling made by Ford Frick, president of the National League on the Phillies' protest of the game played in St. Louis, June 5 and declared he was taking it to Judge Landis.

The game ended 1-0 in favor of the Cardinals after seven and one-half innings when a rainstorm swept the field. Cox claimed that St. Louis made no effort to put the cover on the field.

Frick sustained the protest but ruled that the game should continue from the point where it was discontinued.

Cox declared that Frick's ruling was an outright straddling of the fence. "The rule (No. 26) specifically states what should be done (forfeited) if they don't like the rule they should wipe it off the books. I am going to take up the entire matter with Judge Landis."

Greco-Montgomery Fight Date Shifted

Blame Weather For Rescheduling; Pair Meets Friday Night, June 25

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 16.—The weather, and not the competition offered by horse racing and baseball, was advanced today as the reason behind the re-scheduling of the Johnny Greco-Bob Montgomery fight from the afternoon of Saturday, June 26, to Friday night, June 25.

"We thought it over," said promoter Mike Jacobs, "and decided that, by holding the fight on Friday, we would still have a one-day margin in case of rain." However, if the bout had been held on the day originally planned it would have been running in direct competition with the famed Brooklyn handicap at Aveduct and the Giants-Braves game at the Polo Grounds.

PITTSBURGH, June 16.—An 11th hour deal, completed just an hour before the June 15th trading deadline, switched Johnny Podgajny, a right-handed hurler, from the Phils to the Pirates' lineup today in exchange for Bucco relief twirler Lloyd (Dutch) Dietz.

President Bill Benswanger said the swap was an even-Stephen affair with no cash involved. The trade was completed in an 11 p. m. telephone conversation between Benswanger and Phils President W. D. Cox.

Podgajny, 23, is expected to report to the Pirates today.

Haegg-Rice Race Is Tops In AAU Meet

Swede's Debut On Sunday Afternoon Expected To Attract Throng

By LAWTON CARRER
(International News Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, June 16.—The National A. A. U. track and field championships to be staged here at Randall's Island Saturday and Sunday will be the biggest thing of the kind in recent years despite gas shortage, travel restriction and the scarcity of athletes.

With Gunder Haegg, the world's greatest runner, in the featured role against Greg Rice at 5,000 meters Sunday afternoon, the premises are expected to be packed by customers who have read of the Swede's feats and now will get their first and last chance to view him in action here.

'Affair Nation Wide
Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., revealed today that 29 states, 30 army, navy, marine and coast guard bases and 53 clubs and colleges are represented in the list of entries. The thing is truly nationwide in scope and may finally be remembered as one of the big events of the war years.

The crowd will be pulled into the place by Haegg mostly, with some assistance from Rice. In previous meets at the island this season, the big stadium looked like a haunted house. There weren't enough clients present to pay for cutting the grass. But that has been changed by the magic of the Swede's preeminence among the all-time track greats. And, of course, all proceeds above expenses go to the air forces aid society to make the meet not only notable in point of excellence but also completely worthwhile in these times.

"Dream Race" Next

Next in line as an all-star attraction for the benefit of the war effort is the proposed Count Fleet Whirlaway, Alsab race, which Chicago already is trying to land and build up. There is supposed to be a slight coolness among the owners of the three thoroughbreds, but some insist they can be warmed up to this event, which would attract one of the biggest throngs of racegoers in the history of the American turf.

There is no telling how many it would attract—and therefore how many dollars the event would raise for some war fund.

Dean Park And Penguins Win

Dean Park and Penguins won comparatively easy victories in the American Legion Junior League, Monday evening. Dean Park, last year's champs defeated North Hill Ramblers, 14-3, while the Penguins won from Forrest Cubs, 12-6.

Panella with a homer and R. Liebenborfer led with the stick for Dean Park, each getting three hits, while Guinagh and Miller limited the losers to four bingles. Dean Park scored 11 runs in the first innings, but were held in check after that.

Andrews of the Penguins kept seven hits well scattered for the Penguins against Forrest Cubs, despite a three-run attack in the first inning, while his mates produced 12 blows off Vanassa, Jackson and Lambiasi of the winners had doubles.

The score by innings: R H E
Dean Park 11 21 0 0 0—14 11 3
Ramblers . . . 0 0 0 2 0 1—3 4 5
Batteries—Dean Park, Guinagh, Miller and H. Liebenborfer; Ramblers, Rhodes and Preston.

Penguins . . . 001 053 3—12 12 2
Forrest Cubs . . . 300 200 1—6 7 4
Batteries—Penguins, Andrews and E. Jackson; Forrest Cubs, Vanassa and Robinson.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Chicago's Tam O'Shanter double header golf tournament will lack some of its circus aspects when the $10,000 All-American open and amateur meets run simultaneously July 19 through 25. It was reported today. Competitors will not be tagged. Instead a printing press will be installed near the first tee to turn out sheets carrying pairings and starting times for each round. They will be free and fans will be kept thoroughly informed through this method. In 1942, the veteran, Joe Kirkwood, refused to go on the course dressed "like a circus horse" and several other golfers backed him up. However, all went on except Kirkwood.

Hugh Fullerton, Jr., of the A. P. says it is whispered about the east that "Darnly" may be the good thing in the Hambletonian. Frank Ward of the Vindicator, Youngstown, points out that the Hamilton, O., race track is nicely located—just across the way from the county poor farm.

Warren Brown of the Chicago Sun remarks that the retirement of Lem Franklin, heavyweight, means several guys will have to go to work. . . . Hi Diddle, colt, fell, broke his neck and died almost instantly at Hawthorne. . . . A tin horn is a guy who pans after drawing a favor.

Sue Zimmerman, Portland, Ore., and Ann Curtis, San Francisco, today hold two new American women's swimming marks made at San Francisco. Miss Zimmerman, representing the Multnomah Athletic club of Portland, won the 150-yard medley race in 1:32.2 as the far western swimming meet closed. Miss Curtis, member of the Crystal Plunge team, broke the record of Brenda Helsor, Portland, Ore., in winning the 220-yard freestyle in 2:33.6 for a new world record. Yesterday she set a world record in the 100-yard long course freestyle, shattering Helene Madison's mark of 1:03 by five-tenths of a second.

Lou Nova Trains For Savold Fight

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 15.—Lou Nova, Van Nuys, Calif., heavyweight, in Chicago today to prepare for his June 28 bout with Lee Savold of Des Moines in Wrigley Field, expressed confidence of victory and hoped it would lead to a re-match with Champion Joe Louis.

Nova, once knocked out by Louis in the sixth round, admitted the Brown Bomber is a "great champion," but said he felt sure he could beat him if they meet again.

Leo Rains-Jones Certain Of Posts

Duo Assured Reappointments To Fistic Board; Boyle's Successor Unknown

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 16.—Leon Rains, of Philadelphia, and George J. Jones, of Williamsport, today were assured reappointments to the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission by Gov. Edward Martin.

The governor disclosed that he would reappoint both men and designate Rains chairman, but said a successor would be named for Havey J. Boyle, of Pittsburgh, Boyle, who has been ill for a long time, was understood not to have a reappointment. Commission members receive $5,000 annually. The terms of the three commissioners expired June 1 but they have been serving until successors have been appointed.

Unaware Of Protest
Simultaneously, Governor Martin said he was unaware of a protest lodged by Charley Jones, manager of Sammy Angott, Washington, Pa., lightweight, protesting the commission's recognition of Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia Negro, as the new lightweight boxing champion after Angott dropped a decision to Henry Armstrong in New York last Friday.

"If such a communication has come or does come to my office," Martin said, "it will be referred to the commission as a routine matter to be considered by the body." Jones protested that Montgomery's title was recognized only in New York State.

Steelers-Eagles Request Merger

Action Not Surprising To Pro Circles; Team To Be Known As Eagles

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 16.—Elmer Layden, commissioner of professional football, received today the official request of the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Philadelphia Eagles for permission to merge for the duration.

It was no surprise to Layden for Art Rooney, co-owner of the Steelers, some time ago said he was planning on combining the two clubs and suggested that some other teams in the National Football League might want to do the same. If there are no further casualties, favorable action on the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia request will leave the pro league with an eight team set-up, the Cleveland Rams already having received permission to drop out for the 1943 season.

To Split Schedule
Executives of the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia clubs, in petitioning for the merger, said they plan to split the home schedule between the two cities; split all profits equally; share the expenses equally; and install Walt Riesling of the Steelers and Earle "Greasy" Neale, Philadelphia mentor, as co-coaches. The team will be known as the Eagles, marking the first time since Art Rooney came into the league that the colorful little Irishman will not be front and center in the organization spotlight.

The petition, Layden said, will be turned over to the league's executive board at the summer meeting in Chicago next Saturday and Sunday. He did not say what he anticipated the board's reaction would be.

Swede Track Ace Suffers Cut Right Knee; Condition 'Not Serious'

(International News Service)
HANOVER, N. H., June 16.—Gunder Haegg, wonder Swedish track star, was expected to resume training today after suffering a cut right knee.

His condition was described by his masseur as "not serious." Haegg, who is in this country to make a series of charity performances, slipped while running and a spike on his left shoe cut lightly into his right knee. He continued practice for an hour after receiving the wound.

The Scandinavian runner is training for his American premier against Greg Rice next Sunday in the 5,000 meter run at Randall Stadium, Long Island, N. Y.

Sewell Sees No Standouts In A. L. Ranks

Circuit Like Violent Ward At Bellevue—Nobody Better Than Anybody

By DAVIS J. WALSH

INS Sports Writer
CHICAGO, June 16.—The American league, as of 1943, is a little like the violent ward at Bellevue. Nobody is better than anybody.

That statement is only partly ours. That is to say, the second half was made today by Luke (St. Louis Browns), Sewell and, at that, merely represents a translation, sort of at catchweights, of the mail's reply, when asked which was the best club he'd seen so far in this league.

It was an indelicate question, considering the fact that the way he'd been seeing them all at the dubious position of Mr. H. Allen Smith's "low man on a totem pole." But the St. Louis manager answered with uninhibited gusto. The best, eh? He sniffed almost audibly.

Standouts Missing

"Not any," said he, giving it plenty of chest tones. "I've seen them all now, not once but several times; and if you can show me one club that stands out even slightly over the others, I'll eat your cravat—with or without garnish. We're last, and the Yankees are leading. But take away 50 per cent of their pitching, and they might fall clear out of the table of contents."

"We're not good, no. We've lost as much man-power as any club in baseball. But neither the Yankees, on top, nor any outfit in the middle of the field could make me a club-for-club trade for the Browns right now. And I'd be afraid I was giving away the next pennant winner."

As to that, we'd heard what seemed like a pretty straight story, tending to indicate that the Browns were soon to do a superb jack-knife into the Evangeline league.

yielding only two legal hits, Eddie Miller drove in Steve Mesner in the second inning for the Reds, but when Miller failed to take first base, he was erased. Bucky Walters allowed only four hits in twirling his fifth loss, while the Cards' Harry Walker extended his hitting streak to 22 games.

Rip Sewell trimmed the Chicago Cubs for the fourth time this season as the Pittsburgh Pirates took the series opener, 4 to 2. The Pirates bunched all their runs in the sixth. Ray Pina was charged with the loss as three Cub hurlers were hit for 11 safeties.

Ron Northey and Coaker Triplett battled the Philadelphia Phillies into two victories over the Boston Braves, 6 to 4 and 2 to 1, pushing the Phillies into fifth place. Triplett blasted a homer and triple in the first game to bring in four runs. Northey pounded out homers in his first trip to the plate in both games, and accounted for all scoring in the second.

Athletics Win Two
The Boston Red Sox dropped to sixth place in the American League by losing both ends of a twin bill to the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 4 and 4 to 2. Luman Harris and Jesse Flores, starting A's twirlers, both were relieved in the ninth inning while Dick Siebert was the A's big gun in the opener, bringing in four runs with a double and single.

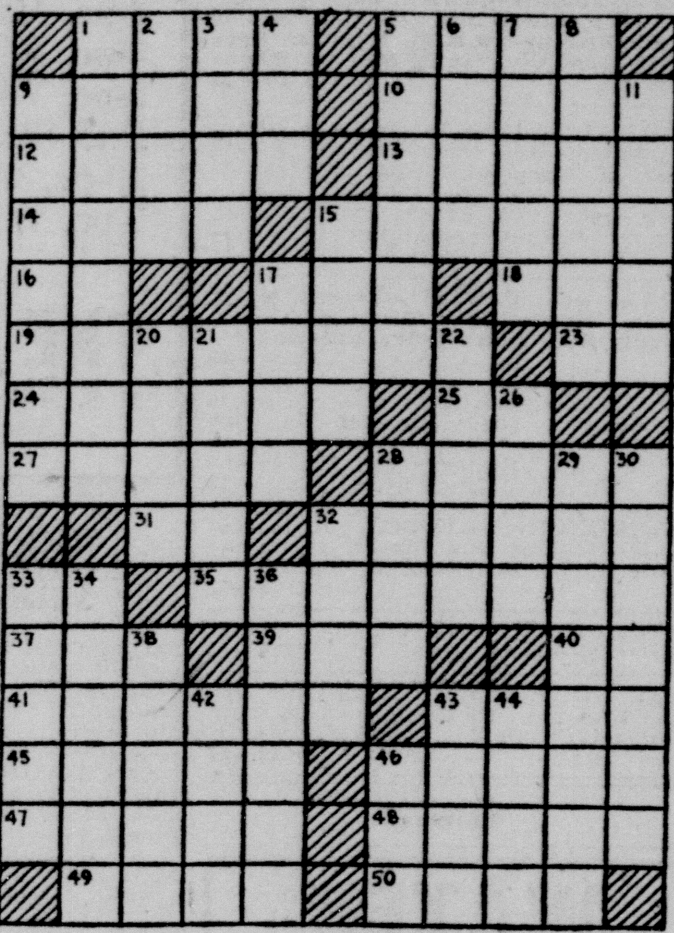

The New York Yanks won with a seven run rally in the eighth inning of a night game at Washington, 9-5, to strengthen their lead.

A crowd of 19,052 attended the night game at Chicago as the White Sox lost 5 to 2 to the St. Louis Browns. Vern Stephens hit a home run in the eighth with a man on base to put the game on ice.

The Detroit at Cleveland game was postponed.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers
Are Outlined Here

One of the precincts which is in need of furnishings is the Sixth of the Third ward and among the articles needed to successfully carry on the work is a desk. A telephone call to 6586 will find someone coming after it.

During the past several days Frank Sargent, chief air raid warden for the local OCD has asserted there is a big need for additional air raid wardens, fire-watchers and messengers. Recruits should apply to senior wardens of the different precincts.

GAINS IN STOCK LIST ARE SHOWN

Recovery Trend In Evidence In Stock Trading During Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 16—Gains spread throughout the list in today's stock market with rails, steels, rubbers and utilities in the van of a recovery that started near yesterday's close.

Resumption of the advance brought an early rise of about a half point in the industrial averages.

Fractional increases were the rule, yet some stocks picked up a point or more. Among these were Loews, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific, Pajardo and Coca Cola. Among leaders registered gains up to 1/2 were Chrysler, General Motors, Atchison, N. Y., Central, Southern Pacific, Bethlehem and U. S. Steel.

Large blocks, ranging from 1,100 to 3,300 sold for Libby-McNeill & Libby, up 1/4 at the opening. Other blocks of International T. & T. and Socony Vacuum also were transferred.

The bond market centered interest on rails which had gained fractions.

CLINGS TO BELIEF HUSBAND ALIVE

Mrs. Willis Cheek Holds To Hope War Department Report Is Wrong

(International News Service)
MARYSVILLE, Pa., June 16—Although her husband, Sgt. Willis Cheek, 22, has been officially reported killed in action in the South Pacific, his wife, Mrs. Willis Cheek, clings to the belief that he is still alive.

Word of her husband's death was received by Mrs. Cheek last week while visiting in New Castle with his parents. A six-months-old son, Ronald, was born after his father left the country in October.

Mrs. Cheek received a telegram from the War Department on May 21 informing her that her husband was missing in action in the New Guinea area. On May 29, however, press dispatches told of Sergeant Cheek receiving merit awards for service. Last week Mrs. Cheek received another War Department communication informing her that her husband died in action on May 12.

Sergeant Cheek was born in New Castle and obtained his early education there. He joined the Army Air Force soon after Pearl Harbor and was assigned to the Middletown air port where he met his wife. After being sent overseas last fall he served as a radio operator on an unnamed plane which carried supplies to troops in Papua and returned with wounded soldiers. He and other members of the crew were awarded Distinguished Flying Crosses after they had made 50 such trips.

YWCA Board Has Election Meeting

Mrs. Ernest L. Stitzinger Named President At Meeting In Berry Home

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 16—Two brothers were working for a defense plant when the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor.

The next day Waldo B. Van de Veur, Jr., 29, enlisted in the Marines and the same week his brother John, 21, joined the Navy. Following basic training, they were sent to unrevealed points and lost contact with their parents in Gladwynne, Pa.

Early in July, however, John's ship visited a South Pacific port. Waldo's Marine company, by coincidence, was passing through en route to Guadalcanal. Meeting by chance, the boys were photographed together and the picture was mailed home.

Waldo then went on to Guadalcanal, where he landed in August with the first Marine contingent. His first letter home in three months told his father: "I've fulfilled your wish."

"When Waldo went away," the senior Van der Veur explained, "I told him 'I hope you get 10 Japs!'"

OLDEST ALUMNUS OF WESTMINSTER DIES

Dr. J. Burns Amberson, 98, oldest alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania, who died Monday at his home in Waynesboro, had been, also, the oldest living alumnus at Westminster College, New Wilmington, for some time.

Dr. Amberson graduated with the class of 1865 at Westminster and went directly from there to the University of Pennsylvania where he graduated in 1868.

He practiced medicine until he was 90 years old at Waynesboro.

In the tomb of Beni Hassan in Egypt, which was built about 2500 B. C., there are many graphic paintings, one depicting the whole process of flax culture.
